Magic book - How to choose your templates

These magic books offer several options to vary the level of challenge, the amount of independence and creativity and the type of learning skills you wish to practice.

Now to choose the templates that are best for you and your young learners? Follow the steps below.

1. Black and white or colour?

The black and white templates allow you to include a colouring dictation stage (more ideas in the Activity Suggestions). The colour templates allow you to save time on this stage. You can always choose a mix of both colour and black and white if you print from 2 separate template files, e.g., print the main pages in colour and print the folding sheets for magic pages in black and white.

2. Condensed pages or standard pages?

The condensed pages:

- Main pages = minimum 1 sheet A4 per child for main pages - without back door, set price page, shopping list and extra pages to insert their own.
- Main pages = 2 sheets A4 per child - including the back door etc.
- Folding sheets for matching pages - Use scrap paper or the included printable page templates
- No space for adding text, e.g., Open it left, Open it right, Will you like what you see? Will it give you a fright?

The standard pages:

- Main pages = minimum 2 sheets A4 per child for main pages - without back door, set price page, shopping list and extra pages to insert their own.
- Main pages = 3 sheets A4 per child - including the back door etc.
- Folding sheets for matching pages - Use scrap paper or the included printable page templates
- Possible to add in text or drawings on facing pages. More similar to the original book.

3. Completed, Gap fill or Choose your own?

Key vocabulary is there. Read and cut and paste in choose a procedure from the Activity Suggestions.

Complete the text with supporting picture prompt. The shopping list page on the back can help with spelling.

Choose and write the kitchen object. Use the shopping list or cut and paste cards to support spelling.

Now you've chosen your templates, choose your procedure from the relevant Activity Suggestions. Have fun!
